Kent Denver School selected Sodexo for an integrated partnership that includes dining, catering, building maintenance, cleaning, landscaping, and security after recognizing the company's shared commitment to quality and achievement. This comprehensive partnership exemplifies Sodexo's unique approach to integrated services, built on innovative solutions that ensure peace of mind, enhance satisfaction on campus, and help faculty and staff focus on their primary objective: educating students and preparing them to thrive in the world.

This integrated approach offers myriad benefits, including flexibility, simplicity, agility, and a greater depth of resources. The value of this approach became clear during a recent emergency on campus.

As the Kent Denver School prepared to host an elegant catered fundraising event for hundreds of guests in March 2019, a transformer in the area malfunctioned, cutting most of the power to the campus. The onsite Sodexo teams sprang into action

Your team is truly incredible. I cannot believe what you were able to pull together with scarce resources (due to the emergency power outage). The food and service was so good. Everyone said the food was amazing. You set us up for success! You guys are so patient and always so on point.

— Sarah Dutcher,
Executive Director of Breakthrough Kent Denver to ensure that the event was a success, despite the challenging circumstances.

The dining team reviewed equipment capabilities and made necessary adjustments to the menu and cooking process. Simultaneously, the facilities management team worked to ensure that the limited electricity available was used efficiently and procured flashlights and other emergency lighting equipment.

Bolstered by an integrated food and facilities management partnership, the teams worked together seamlessly to host a fabulous event. Perhaps the greatest testament to the event's success is that guests never even knew a problem had occurred.
